Friday April 23 is a
PD Day for all students

Update #34

Update for April 20/10

Earth Day Celebrations

This week we celebrate Earth Day. Wednesday is Litterless Lunch day. We invite students to bring their lunches and snacks in containers that can be reused and not thrown out. This will help cut down the amount of garbage that will be collected from classrooms on Wednesday.

Thursday is Earth Day and we are having a blue and green day. Students are asked to come dressed in blue and green to celebrate Earth Day.

Thanks to our Student Parliament for organizing these events in recognition of Earth Day!

Professional Development Day

Friday is a Professional Development day for all staff in the London District Catholic School Board. All staff will be at workshops off site so there will be no staff at St. Catherine of Siena on Friday. Custodial and Secretarial staff are off site as well on Friday.

Thank you for your co-operation on these days.

Eric Wilson Visit

This morning our students from Grade 4 to 8 had a visit from mystery author Eric Wilson. Some of his books include Lost Treasure of Casa Loma, Green Gables Detectives and more!

Mr. Wilson was both entertaining and informative as he told stories about his books and how they came to be. He encouraged our children to develop a love for reading that can last a lifetime. As well, he encouraged lots of writing and gave suggestions on writing as a career.
